TO MARK GRAVE OF A NOTED MINISTER

ciety, with headquarters in Philadelphia, in regard to the preservation and marking of the grave of the Rev, Er. Francis Makensie. Fr. Makensie was the founder of organized Presbyterianism in this country. He lived, preached and died in Accomac county, Va. His grave has been left neglected and unmarked all these years but has becently been located, and an effort is being made by the president of the Presbyterian Historical Society to secure possession of the grave-year, where he and his family are buried, and to arrange for its permanent care. The society also contemplates execting a plain but suitable meanment over his grave, and the erection of a pyranid to a plan but suitable monument over in-grave, and the crection of a pyramid to be composed of the old English bricks used in building the original wall around the graveyard. It is proposed to place a tablet on the side of this pyramid con-through the names of Mr. Makensie's lamily.

The association invited Dr. McCook to come to Richmond and make an address on the subject, and determined to do as much as possible to aid him in his efforts to raise the $8,000 necessary to carry out the plan and provide an endowment, the income from which will be used in caring for the plot in the future.

It was announced that the Bev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, the noted evangelist of the Northern Presbyterian Church, will probably conduct a series of revival services, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church in this city, some time next April.
